Early this week I received in the mail a whole bundle of papers, titled THE SOUTHERN REPOSURE. The Reposure is an obvious, indeed, most obvious, attempt to lampoon. Frankly, it doesn't come off too well. It really fails to measure up to Voltaire and Swift somehow. But I presume whomever published the paper had a lot of fun. The basic idea, as I understand it, was to put the majority in the place of the minortiy. Thus, it's the Scotch-Irish who are dealt with in the paper, in view of about 80% of we whites in the state are of Scotch-Irish decent.

There are, if you aren't too particular about your satire, a few good lines in the paper. Anyway, I got a slight chuckle. Said one person in a letter to the editor: "I love the Scotch-Irish, but only if they stay in the place God appointed for them." In the "Letters" a mother was upset because she had found her child reading the Essays of Emerson. She concluded that such reading could only lead to to thinking, and ultimately to an open mind.

On the front page of the paper is a heading, "News In Brief At A Glance," under which are such stories as a report of a recent meeting of Segregation Emphasis Month at which Miss Elsie Dinsmore discussed the topic, "The Blotch Made by the Scotch." Another story reports that AT&T was to segregate party lines. Date lined Corn Pone, Miss., reported by the Confederate Press Service, is a story about Dr. Kershee advised "It Would Be Tactless Of You To Come!" Also, on the front page is a boxed story, "Publisher's Introduction." In it Nathan Bedford Cooclose, the publisher, explains why he decided to print the paper. (By the choice of the name Cooclose, I presume the real publisher of the paper knew a couple of words of Greek, those from which Ku Klux is derived.)

One of the most humorous thing in the entire paper is a line just under the name plate which reads: "Know Ye The Truth And Be Ye Then Free," John 3:16. Not only does it appear to be a deliberate misquote, but the misreference leads me to believe the publisher had some of Mississippi's Scripture Quoting Segregations in mind.

On the whole I am of the opinion that the basic idea is good, and could have been made into a classic, but somehow it fails to come off, except as an attempt at college humor. Who knows, perhaps that is the audience the paper hopes to capture? Anyway, since they sent me quite a bundle of the things, if you would like to see one, write me and I'll mail one to you.

Not that I'm an agent for THE SOUTHERN REPOSURE, for I'm not, but I will pass along the Publish-

Health Program To Be Broadcast Saturday, Aug. 4

If there's a school age child in your home, your TV set should be tuned in on WLBT — Channel 3, Saturday, August 4, at 12:15 p.m.

At that time the State Board of Health will broadcast some startling facts on the health status of Mississippi school children, and in an action-filled live telecast show what public health is doing to remedy an alarming condition which should not exist.

Viewers will see an actual school health examination of a sixth grade pupil by Dr. W. C. Winans, health officer of Pike County Health Department, with public health nurse Ruth Warren assisting; and Mrs. Russell Lyons, Ninth District PTA Director, as the mother. In a classroom scene with Clinton, Mississippi sixth graders, insight will be gained in the teacher's role in the school health program.

Dr. N. C. Knight, Medical Director of School Health Service, who emcees the telecast, will

Another Fallacy Of Our Times —

That Talk Is Cheap!

Just for the sake of the argument and for the sake of something resembling a comparative anaylsis, let us say that, about 40 years ago you, as an individual, went into business for yourself. You did without personal things you wanted; you worked hard and saved every cent against that day when you would enter business for yourself. You made it, and entered the service station business.

And further, for the sake of the argument, let's say that within a few short years you had the foresight to see what was coming: The Age Of The Automobile. You wanted to expand your business, buy out other businesses, provide a service from state line to state line in Mississippi.

Now, the only way you could do that was to take on stockholders — let people invest their money in your business. You finally have the sort of organization of which you dreamed. A service station in every town in the state. Everything is going along well. You are making a nice profit; you are paying your stockholders the fair return of 6% on their investment.

Times change.

You see greater possibilities. Every single service station in the State of Mississippi can be yours — one vast network, providing service for the ever increasing number of motor vehicles.

Naturally, and we think you would agree to this, a monopoly is contrary to the foundations of our form of Government. A Commission by the State of Mississippi is set up to see that your customers get a fair deal; it is presumed, naturally, that such a Commission is obligated equally to watch out for sents an investment of $481.00. (As recentlyy as 1949 the average investment per telephone was only $270.00; copper wire was only $140.-45 per 100 pounds.)

The phone company has paid a 6% return to their investors for 35 years. (Incidentally, they have 1,400,000 stockholders, of which 225,000 are telephone workers. This applies to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which owns the common stock of Southern Bell.) In 1920 and a few years following immediately Southern Bell was able to stash away $42.88 reserve per share of stock. Since that time, including four years during the depression, they have found it necessary to dip into this surplus to pay their consistant 6%. It is unbelivable, but the four best years this nation has ever known from an economic standpoint were 1942, 1944, 1945 and 1947, but Southern Bell was, for all practical purposes, losing money. They have, as a result of fixed rates and increased costs, reduced the reserve of $42.88 per share of stock to $19.99.

In 4 years, not since 1952, has Southern Bell had an increase in their rates, and at that time the increase was relatively small.

As a matter of fact, not since 1949 has the Public Service Commission allowed them to raise their rates so that they could realize a fair return on their investment.

However, in the years from 1949 until 1956 they have had tremendous additional expenses in the form of 6 wage increases to employees. In 1949 they employed 4200 per-

Door-To-Door Collections For Park Fund Underway This Week

At their regular meeting last Thursday, the Petal Optimist Club took time out to view color slides of various activities in which they had taken part since their inception as a civic club.

Among the activities of which color pictures were shown was the recent District Meeting held in Mobile. Pictures were also shown of the installation services held in the Forrest Hotel, and of the Little League Baseball Playoff in Purvis recently. In addition, pictures of the Family Night held at Rawls Springs were shown, and the homecoming of the Governor of Girl's State, in which the local club had taken part.

Burrell C. Young, Chairman of the Park Project, announced that plans were now completed for door-to-door soliciations in Petal and Harvey for funds for the Park Project.

"It was our hope to have been fully organized last week," stated Mr. Young, "but we were delayed and will definitely get underway the first of next week. We respectfully ask that you give as much as you can to the Petal Park Project when a club representative calls on you. We feel that it's an unusually worthy program, for adults as well as for our children."

Child Entering School This Fall?

You'll Need A Birth Certificate

If your child needs a birth certificate, don't delay getting it.

That's the warning from the Vital Statistics Division of the State Bard of Health, which expects to be deluged with applications for certificates as schools open again and the parents of the some 100,000 beginners realize that the state law requires each 4,000,000 others in the "search room".

And to fail to furnish adequate facts with the application spells further delay. Approximately 20 per cent of the requests coming to the Vital Statistics office cannot be filled because of insufficient or inaccurate information, or because of failure to enclose

Not that I'm an agent for THE SOUTHERN REPOSURE, for I'm not, but I will pass along the Publisher's Introduction for you to read. From it you can decide if you want a copy of the thing. (Incidentally, if you want a copy, it's a matter of first come, first served, for when the copies I have are gone, I don't know where to get additional ones.)

Publisher's Introduction

It was late Spring that my son, Ernest Chris, returned to our plantation, "The Southern Manner," and brought the worst, certainly the most disturbing news of my entire life.

As it was, I was stretched out on my hammock in the front yard, relaxing with a cool mint julip before dinner. Ernest Chris had returned from a college near Jackson, Mississippi, which he had attended during the year. I attended the same college; so did my father and so did his father.

Never have I been so upset by any news as by that brought home by my son, Ernest Chris.

He had been a member of the U.S.D.S. (United Sons and Daughters for Segregation) at our college. My son informed me, and I confirmed it, to be sure, that the Scotch-Irish among us were a real threat, indeed, a terrible menace to our way of life.

Here are some facts which I have confirmed about the Scotch-Irish in Mississippi today.

SMELL: The average Scottrish smells like smoke. This is most unpleasant, and is caused by drinking a concoction known as "Uisgebeatha". This drinking causes bad breath, naturally. It is only natural that if the Scotch Irish wanted to act civilized, as you and I, he would flavor his drink with mint. No, my friend, mint and smoke do not mix!

HABITS: The average Scotch Irish is a repulsive and obnoxious creature who is apt, if the notion strikes him, to pull a highland fling on the main street of any one of our towns in Mississippi. They are a group who, except for the women, carry long bladed knives to church with them. This, I assure you, is a heathern practice. In addition, they have come to expect to be served oatmeal in our finest restaurants simply because they have the required fifteen cents. Anyone with good breeding knows that oatmeal is horse food! And to top off the whole business, they eat pop corn in the movie houses. Which, of course, it not very couth, and, beside, it's damned anoying.

SPEECH: We Southerners have tried for years to keep the "R" sound out of our language, and have tried to teach the same basic good taste to the Scottrish among us. But, lo and behold, they insist on pronouncing the "R" and what's more, they do it with a roll. They are, no matter how hard we try, still barbaric.

MORALS: You should know the low morals of the Scottrish among us! Why, indeed, they breed like turtles! Their divorce rate is outrageous! They even like the smell that is their own, therefore they don't take baths every day as you and I do. To put it mildly, the Scottrish is a trifle lax in writing checks around the first of each month. They cannot and will not accept business respon-

Dr. N. C. Knight, Medical Director of School Health Service, who emcees the telecast, will present a challenge that should be heard by every parent who wants maximum school achievement for his child.

Citizens of local communities throughout the state, particularly school officials, PTA leaders, local physicians and health department staffs, are urged to tune in and to encourage all parents in the community to do so.

Rural Phone Expansion Announced

Southern Bell announced plans today for early construction of new telephone lines to serve farm families in the communities of Oloh, Brooklyn, North of Eatonville and Moselle.

Wallace Bunn, District Manager of the Telephone Company, said that approximately 138 customers would be served and that one of the recent developments of the Bell Laboratories, a carrier system would be used. This new carrier system has enabled Southern Bell to reach further out in the rural areas than ever before.

Construction will start soon and all of the telephones should be installed durihgg the 4th quarter of this year, 60 telephones will be installed in November, 1956 in the Oloh at a cost of $30,000, 33 telephones wll be installed in December at Brooklyn costing $10,000, and 35 telephones will be installed in October in the Eatonville and Moselle communities at a cost of $12,000.

"This is one step in our program to bring the convenience of the telephone to farm families. There will be other projects, too. We are doing our best to hasten the day when rural telephone service will be available for everyone who wants it," Mr. Bunn said.

Road Program

Senate passage of the highway bill has assured the nation of a mammoth program of road construction which will set in motion the greatest peacetime Federal Building program in the history of the nation. The projected thirteen-year program contemplates an interstate road network to link pratically every city of more than 50,000 population with no-intersection, no-stop-light roads. Also planned are by-passes around 50 major cities and inner-loop expressways in some cities. All but about 7,000 miles of the system will be dual highways of more than two lanes; some will have eight.

You see greater possibilities. Every single service station in the State of Mississippi can be yours — one vast network, providing service for the ever increasing number of motor vehicles.

Naturally, and we think you would agree to this, a monopoly is contrary to the foundations of our form of Government. A Commission by the State of Mississippi is set up to see that your customers get a fair deal; it is presumed, naturally, that such a Commission is obligated equally to watch out for your welfare. All is well. God is in His heaven, and you're pumping gasoline like mad.

As we said, times change.

The war comes along. Prices increase for materials, taxes, and salaries. You sit by and watch every single business in the State of Mississippi add their increased costs to their products, passing them along to their customers.

But you? No.

The Commission is composed of elected officials. They think in terms of votes first, and business second. It is to them, as individuals, good business to keep gasoline rates down to the voters.

Meantime, your costs have risen to the point where your stockholders are getting nothing whatsoever on their investment. Thus, your stock is not a good investment to anyone. You are unable to raise investment capital for increased demands for your service. Prices continue to rise. Your income remains the some. Worn out gas pumps have to be replaced. In 1920 they cost you $37.50; today they cost you $175.00. With every single item it is the same.

The inevitable?

You can no longer operate as a business. Your doors have to be closed. The Commission says to the voters: "Glory to us, we've kept your gasoline costs down."

And they have, too. Only one slight difficulty prevails: There Is No Gasoline To Be Had In The State Of Mississippi.

At this point the gentlemen of the Commission scratch their heads and feel real sad. They have outdone themselves. You, as an individual, no longer care. You're broke. You have kept faith with your customers; you have treated them fair, and you know it and they know it. But, nonetheless, a vital service to Mississippi has been destroyed.

True, the above is but a hypothetical case. But it certainly compares with the present plight of the utility companies operating wholly within the State of Mississippi.

Let's have a look at the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. They come under the Public Service Commission — and House Bill 123, recently passed.

You can take our word for it, talk is no longer cheap, not if you're doing it over a piece of copper wire that costs $457.81 per 100 pounds, and an instrument that repre-best years this nation has ever known from an economic standpoint were 1942, 1944, 1945 and 1947, but Southern Bell was, for all practical purposes, losing money. They have, as a result of fixed rates and increased costs, reduced the reserve of $42.88 per share of stock to $19.99.

In 4 years, not since 1952, has Southern Bell had an increase in their rates, and at that time the increase was relatively small.

As a matter of fact, not since 1949 has the Public Service Commission allowed them to raise their rates so that they could realize a fair return on their investment.

However, in the years from 1949 until 1956 they have had tremendous additional expenses in the form of 6 wage increases to employees. In 1949 they employed 4200 persons; today the phone company provides jobs for 4600 persons. Total salaries paid to employees in 1949 was $10,200,000.00; this year it will amount to $17,000,000.00. Not including federal excise tax, Southern Bell paid in 1949 the amount of $2,250,000.00. In 1956 their tax bill will be $7,885,000.00. (A nice increase in anybody's language, we'd say.)

The cheapest telephone pole, a 35 foot, class C, cost $37.74 in 1949; that same pole today sells for $58.90. Underground cable, of which they use mile upon mile costs $3,619.00 per 1000 feet today as compared to $2,461.00 in 1949.

We could list numerous other increases, but the above should be sufficient to prove that Southern Bell, like other intrastate utility companies, are hard pressed at this time.

To date the only thing the phone company has done about is has been to invite the Public Service Commission to study their rates, costs, etc. and to be governed accordingly. That is, in our opinion, the fairest thing any company could do.

We have time and time again pointed out in our editorials the fact that the United States Supreme Court has ruled numerous times that a 6% return was a fair amount to receive on an investment. Yet, in spite of this, Southern Bell is now making a fraction less than 4% in Mississippi. And on top of that, if they are forced to pay the 2% municipal tax as set up in House Bill 123, they will earn less than 2%. With an earning of 2% they aren't likely to get hold of the necessary 30 million they want to use in expansion this year and next. If they don't get the needed money, many thousands of Mississippians will do without telephone service, and those who have phone service will suffer as well.

In short, we can't see any excuse for the Public Service Commission to deny a fair study of Southern Bell's complete operation. If after that study they find Southern Bell wrong in their accusations, then give 'em hell. If they find Southern Bell's earnings down to near 4%, then give them a raise that will provide them a fair return on their investment. What's fair for the customer is also fair for the seller, and vice versa, or so it seems to us.

(Editor's Note: A funny thing about most of us. We'll pay $4,000.00 for a new car and raise hell because our phone, gas, or electric bill goes up 10c.)

Child Entering School This Fall?

You'll Need A Birth Certificate

If your child needs a birth certificate, don't delay getting it.

That's the warning from the Vital Statistics Division of the State Bard of Health, which expects to be deluged with applications for certificates as schools open again and the parents of the some 100,000 beginners realize that the state law requires each school child to verify age by a birh certificate.

According to the ruling of the attorney general's office, the small plain photistatic copy sent to the mother soon after the birth of the child is acceptable for school purposes, provided it has the number of the county registrar and or the state number in the upper right-hand corner.

Parents are urged to hunt up this plain photostatic copy now, and ir they can't find it, or if it doesn't have the required notation, to apply at once for a certified copy of the birth certificate. A certified copy mey be secured from the Division of Vital Statistics, State Board of Health, Jackson, for $1.00.

To delay in applying for a certificate as time for opening of schools draws nearer, will mean delay in securing it. For only 300 to 500 applications can be processed a day byp the present staff in the Vital Statistics office, depending upon how long it takes the "searchers" ot find the original records filed along with some 4,000,000 others in the "search room".

And to fail to furnish adequate facts with the application spells further delay. Approximately 20 per cent of the requests coming to the Vital Statistics office cannot be filled because of insufficient or inaccurate information, or because of failure to enclose the fee of $1.00 required for each certified copy.

When applying for a certified copy of a birth certificate four facts must be furnished: (1) name of the child; (2) date of birth; (3) county in which birth occurred; (4) names of parents.

Birth records are filed by counties and unless this information is furnished, the orginal record cannot be located.

And there's a word of warning to citizens who do not have birth certificates and will be needing them within the next few months: Better apply at once, for applications are processed in the order received and soon the school rush will be on.

By September the requests will be piling up by the hundreds, only to be tied in neat bundles each day. Filed away in order of date received, the bundles will be kept in a located cabinet until the bogged down "searchers" can get to them.

For how long? Well, suppose half o fthe beginner school chilsibility, no matter how hard we try. You know this to be true as well as I. In addition to their poor breeding, they are vulgar to an unbearable point. How many times have you heard one exclaim "Hoot Man," or "Begorrrrah!" How disgusting!

In view of all the above information, I have taken the only means of which I know to bring certain news and views to you, I have undertaken the publication of this little paper, "THE SOUTHERN REPOSURE."

I have asked myself, as surely you must have, "Do I want my young daughter to marry a windbag, highland flinging, kilt wearing creature whose ancestry is questionable?"

Like your answer, mine is the same: NO!

Knowing, of course, that the best thing that could be done would be to send them back to the bogs from which they came, I offer it to you for speculation. If that fails, then, we must stick together in an all out effort to make it clear to the Scottrish that we will treat them kind, but they MUST stay in their place.

In short, this paper proposes to maintain Segregation of the Scotch Irish, no matter what the cost!

It it a known fact that smoke and mint don't mix.

So, why try it at our expense?

Sincerely
Nathan Bedford Cooclose

An additional note on the Reposure — It seems I was not the only person in these parts to receive copies of the paper. By press time I had received about ten or twelve telephone calls from persons who also received a copy, and to date four have said to me: "You done it!"

I think about the best answer to that was made by "Boss" Pevsner, who said: "Naw, P. D. didn't have anything to do with it. It's not nasty enough." I agree with The Boss.

One person called to my attention the back page ad as being similar to my ad on the Citizens Clan sometime ago. Well, if Nathan Bedford Cooclose wants to flatter me by imitating my paper, it's all right with me. Of course, if I knew who Cooclose was, I'd probably sue him for something, just for the sheer delightful hell of it.

Q. What other benefits may I expect after NiCARBAZIN removes the coccidiosis problem?

A. Your birds should show a gain in feed efficiency. In addition, they will weigh more, dress out heavier, and show a better skin color. These benefits mean you'll cut production costs and command better prices for your birds. It all adds up to greater poultry profits for you.

Q. Is NiCARBAZIN consistently effective against coccidiosis mortality?

A. Yes. Reports from every broiler area show that NiCARBAZIN provides the most effective curb against coccidiosis death loss. In one area, for example, growers reported no coxy death loss in 174,542 birds protected with NiCARBAZIN. With these same growers, mortality ran as high as 12 per cent in 48,500 birds on another coccidiostat.

Q. How does NiCARBAZIN compare with other coccidiostats in its effect on market weight?

A. In recent comparative feeding trials, NiCARBAZIN protected birds averaged 0.19 lb. more than birds on another coccidiostat. This extra weight per bird gave growers 10,564 lbs. added market weight for the 55,600 birds on NiCARBAZIN feeds.

Q. Is there a reduction in overall mortality, as well as coccidiosis mortality, when NiCARBAZIN is used in feeds?

A. Several poultry diseases are caused by secondary infections which may develop in birds already weakened by such conditions as coccidiosis. Because NiCARBAZIN can practically eliminate coxy damage, birds are better able to resist secondary infections.

One person called to my attention the back page ad as being similar to my ad on the Citizens Clan sometime ago. Well, if Nathan Bedford Cooclose wants to flatter me by imitating my paper, it's all right with me. Of course, if I knew who Cooclose was, I'd probably sue him for something, just for the sheer delightful hell of it.

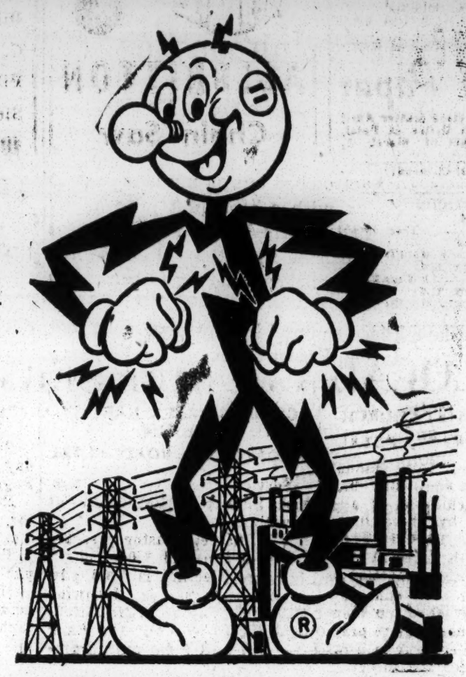
POWER and INDUSTRY



Power—electric power—and industry go hand in hand. Without electricity there would be little, if any, industrial development.

Our first job is to provide an ample supply of electricity, at reasonable rates, for all needs in the area we serve. We have done that and we are prepared to handle future requirements.

In addition to that, we have actively participated in the industrial development of the area we serve and of the State. Our New Industries Department was organized in 1926 and is the oldest such department in the entire State. The members of that department spend full time on industrial development, working closely with local and state civic groups.

We will continue our efforts in both fields—the supplying of electricity and industrial development—so that Mississippi will continue to develop and prosper.

Negro Boy Scout Camp Has Near Record Group

With 234 paid registrations already in, prospects are good for a record attendance of 250 or more Boy Scouts at Camp Attawah, Pine Burr Area Council Camp for the Negro boys of South Mississippi. Every section of the 16 county area is represented, with 30 Troops having one or more boys signed up, according to Scout Executive J. H. C. Thomas.

While the first of two one-week periods will open on Sunday afternoon, July 29, the camp staff began training on Monday, July 23, with Field Executive P. V. McMillian in charge. He will be assisted by Argel Otis of Columbia, Miss. The waterfront will be in charge of Curtis Gray of Laurel and the canoeing and boating instruction will be done by Robert Hall of Gulfport.

Markmanship instruction will be in charge of Thomas E. Deen, Sumrall; Bill Barnes of Houston, Texas will serve as camp doctor. Twenty-four Explorers have registered to try for the Junior Staff positions.

Special emphasis will be put on aquatics at the camp this year. As many periods as needed will be scheduled for non-swimmers as in years past, to enable more of the boys to learn to swim. Rowing and canoeing will also be extended.

Wednesday evenings will be especially for visitors. A picnic area is available at the camp and parents and friends of Scouts are invited to bring picnic lunches, and stay for a campfire program Wednesday night.

Scoutcraft, handicraft, nature study, conservation and archery are also on the camp list of activities. A softball field will be put to regular use.

It is still possible for boys to register for camp, according to Mr. Thomas.

Twenty-six of the 56 Divisional Troops have not yet registered Scouts for camp, but the Camping and Activities chairmen are striving to have every unit take part.

A special meeting of the Interracial Committee and Divisional committeemen will be held Sunday afternoon, August 12, beginning at 3:00 o'clock, to make plans for the finance campaign this fall. Leaders will also have opportunity to inspect the completed camp in operation.

The Central Lodge at Camp Attawah was repainted by volunteer leaders during the past two weeks. Ot has been described by National leaders as one of the best camps for colored Scouts in the nation.

This Fish Story Has Reel Twist

Tom Lenk has combined trout fishing, a $12 a week job and an Army career into a five million dollar a year business.

When Lenk was in his teens he had seen much of spin fishing in Europe. He liked the tackle used. At 18 he left his native Austria for America and became a stock room clerk for a firm importing human hair, buffalo hide and silkworm gut for sutures.

While learning the importing business he had in the back of his head how trout were caught on light line and spinning tackle.

In August, 1942, Lenk was drafted. Four monoths later he became a citizen and three months later he got his commission from officer candidate school at Fort platyl monofiliment line, a light durable synthetic.

Lenk says one of his salt water imports was used when Willard Cravens landed a 360-pound sturgeon on Snake River, Idaho last April. "It was the largest fish ever landed on rod and reel in fresh water," says Lenk.

Today Lenk, a handsome dark-haired resident of Hillside, N. J., is vice president of the firm with which he started as a $12 a week clerk 18 years ago. And he spends a good part of his time using the spinning outfits he imports.

"Trout?" says Lenk. "Later this summer I hope to catch striped bass and tuna on the same tackle used to catch that 360-pound sturgeon."

Congress planned George Washington's tomb in the Capitol, but relatives rejected the proposal.

NATURAL GAS fits into this picture

Plastics, nylon and the many other "wonder" materials play an important part in our lives today. And natural gas is one of the basic raw materials in the manufacture of these synthetic products. It is used, too, in many processing operations.

United Gas provides to the plants in this great and growing industry, and to all other industrial plants locating along its pipe lines, adequate, uninterrupted supplies of natural gas the year around... an important factor in attracting industry to any community.

I learned that one out of every six Americans go fishing. I saved a few dollars and borrowed a few, then borrowed on top of that.

"I imported 500 spinning reels from France and gave 300 away. I was in business."

That was in 1948. Lenk did $3000 business his first year and says he spent $8000.

Lenk says fishing with a spinning reel is so easy that it is now catching on with women anglers who never before went fishing. "It is taking some women from the home and into a sport they once frowned upon," he says.

Lenk, now 36, imports spinning reels and lures from France and Sweden. From West Germany he imports agate rod guides and a

NEW SOUTHERN BELL RATES PLACED IN EFFECT IN MISSISSIPPI

In Accordance With State Law

To more nearly reflect present day costs of furnishing telephone service, this Company on June 25, 1956, filed a new schedule of intrastate rates and charges with the Mississippi Public Service Commission under the provisions of the state statutes As provided for by the law, this new schedule was placed into effect on July 26, 1956, under bond pending the determination by the Commission of the Company's full revenue requirements.

The revised rates involve an increase in the charges for local telephone service and a revision of long distance rates between points within Mississippi, resulting in increases in some long distance rates and reductions in other long distance rates.

Should rates different than those placed in effect on July 26 finally be determined to be the lawful rates, proper adjustments will be made on your telephone bill covering the difference between the rates actually paid and the rates determined to be the lawful rates.

Our aim has been to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost and that continues to be our policy.
